PROJECT DESCRIPTION

Learning Foreign Languages Online:

The new way for a successful self-directed learning experience. How can you effectively learn a foreign language online? Choose the language and the platform you wish and follow the instructions of our E-course to reach your goals.

TARGET GROUP

Our target group is adult foreign language learners, with a special focus on those from disadvantaged backgrounds.

Our aim is to make the outputs available in three major European languages and to disseminate them across several European countries.

Results

1

Compilation of OERs for learning foreign languages online. Addressed to self-directed learners this will be the first and core output of our project.

2

The e-course will be addressed to learners who want to engage in self-directed learning using OERs to learn foreign languages

Choose from 7 languages

English, Spanish, French,
Italian, Polish, Croatian,
German

IMPACT

During and after the implementation of the project we expect, we expect that it will have the following impacts:

- Increased quality of the resources used by independent learners of a foreign language
- Improved use of foreign language learners' time and improved management of their own learning
- Better learning outcomes in self-directed learning environments
- Improved communication skills of language learners
- Better preparation of language learners to meet the requirements of employers, educational institutions, and day-to-day life in settings where the foreign language is spoken
